Week of July 6th - "Nature Walk"

A fun activity based on the book "Our Walk in the Woods" kids will set out in the park to find nature! It is fun imaginative play where your child will likely find a love for exploration, curiosity and independent play!

Week of July 13th - "Egg Head"

This project has something for everyone -- sensory goodness for the toddlers, introductory science for the preschoolers, and environmental awareness for all of us. Most of it can be done by the kids themselves, which fosters a sense of self-reliance and pride.

Week of July 20th - "Forrest Putty"

Play dough undoubtedly makes the short list of wonder toys. Given the right context and the relaxation of rules, though, it can become even more wonderful. Take the dough outdoors, rebrand it "forest putty," shroud it with a touch of mystery and invite kids to play freely with it. Suddenly, play dough can take on new textures, colors and scents. It becomes a tool for exploring, sculpting, attaching, building, collecting and pretending.

Week of July 27th - "Spreading Smiles"

This activity will begin with a story about filling people buckets! Then we will draw smiley faces on acorns and rocks and spread them around the park, softball field and the pool. The activity will help them spread kindness and fill the buckets of those that find their little treasures!

Week of August 3rd - "Orange you Glad We Made This Feeder?"

Repurpose an orange to use as a bird feeder, enjoying the brilliant splash of color and marvelous summery scent it adds to wherever you choose to hang it.

Week of August 10th - "Nature Faces"

"Head" off into nature with the kids! Then create a charming self portrait with all the goodies you collect. This activity is fun for all ages!

Week of August 24th - "Nature Curtain"

Entertaining a group of kids of varying ages can feel intimidating. This activity will start with a nature walk but ends with a beautiful masterpiece. 2 year old's to adults are sure to love the natural beauty of this project!

_packets will include step by step instructions and supplies! Delivered weekly!

Redfield Parks and Recreation Announces Summer Registration

Registration Open Online

Today the Redfield Parks and Recreation announced immediate availability of Summer Recreation Registration. All activities have been modified to prevent the community spread of COVID-19. Some have been cancelled.

“The Summer Recreation Guide will be posted on our website and on Facebook. Activities are available for online registration at RedfieldRecreation.ActivityReg.com,” said Heidi Appel, Director of Redfield Parks and Recreation.

Modified Activities and Dates

Parks and Recreation, an arm of the City of Redfield, recently committed to deploying summer activities as long as proper sanitation and adequate social distancing can take place. The Redfield Parks and Recreation Board of Directors along with the Redfield City Council has laid out modifications for recreation activities. These modifications are noted in the Summer Recreation Guide.

“All activities for children 8 and younger will be cancelled or structured as a take home activity due to the inability to ensure proper social distancing and hygiene,” said Appel. Activities for the older youth participants will be slightly modified to ensure they can take place. One of those modifications will be to begin activities on July 6th instead of early June like in years past.

Families in the Redfield area are encouraged to be more active throughout the summer months. In addition to the programming provided by the city, the Parks and Recreation Department encourages families to make use of our walking/bike paths, baseball and softball fields, batting cages and one of the six playground areas. These areas will be on a regular sanitation schedule seven days per week to ensure the safety and wellbeing of the citizens of the Redfield community.

Municipal Pool

For the safety of the pool attendees and their families, the City Council has delayed the decision on whether or not to open the Redfield Municipal Pool for the season. “There are many safety and financial concerns to address in the coming weeks,” Appel stated. The council will discuss the 2020 pool season at their next city council meeting on June 2nd at 7pm.
