June 10 - "Nature Walk"

A fun activity based on the book "Our Walk in the Woods" kids will set out in the park to find nature! It is fun imaginative play where your child will likely find a love for exploration, curiosity and independent play!

June 17 - "Egg Head"

This project has something for everyone -- sensory goodness for the toddlers, introductory science for the preschoolers, and environmental awareness for all of us. Most of it can be done by the kids themselves, which fosters a sense of self-reliance and pride.

June 24 - "Forrest Putty"

Play dough undoubtedly makes the short list of wonder toys. Given the right context and the relaxation of rules, though, it can become even more wonderful. Take the dough outdoors, rebrand it "forest putty," shroud it with a touch of mystery and invite kids to play freely with it. Suddenly, play dough can take on new textures, colors and scents. It becomes a tool for exploring, sculpting, attaching, building, collecting and pretending.

July 1 - "Spreading Smiles"

This activity will begin with a story about filling people buckets! Then we will draw smiley faces on acorns and rocks and spread them around the park, softball field and the pool. They activity will help them spread kindness and fill the buckets of those that find their little treasures!

July 8 - " Orange you Glad We Made This Feeder?"

Repurpose an orange to use as a bird feeder, enjoying the brilliant splash of color and marvelous summery scent it adds to wherever you choose to hang it.

July 15 - "Nature Faces"

"Head" off into nature with the kids! Then create a charming self portrait with all the goodies you collect. This activity is fun for all ages!

July 22 - "Nature Curtain"

Entertaining a group of kids of varying ages can feel intimidating. This activity will start with a nature walk but ends with a beautiful masterpiece. 2 year old's to adults are sure to love the natural beauty of this project!
